

Creation of Afghan Post Cooperation

Project Description

The Afghanistan Postal commission is formed to prepare a written policy for the development of the postal sector, which will form the basis of a new Postal Services Law. The law will create a transparent licensing regime to regulate all postal services providers on an equal basis and articulate the obligations of nationwide postal services and the rights of consumers. Rationalize the provision of postal services to meet current requirements

By the end of 2007, MCIT will obtain donor funding to strengthen the newly-established Afghan Postal Commission (APC) so that it can properly license private sector postal service providers, as well as monitor sector activities and ensure a high level of consumer satisfaction. And by the end of 2008, MCIT will facilitate the necessary legal and legislative instruments to corporatize Afghan Post and thus the operation will be separated from the regulation.
